LIFT WAR HEADS FOR TORPEDOES FROM MARYLAND

Explosives For K Submarines Taken From Cruiser, Which Loads F Supplies

Enough explosives to blow the battleship and half the waterfront sky high were lifted out of the hold of the U. S. S. Maryland this morning and were replaced by a similar amount of potential earthquake.

The explosive removed consisted of 16 war heads of torpedoes belonging to the third submarine division, the K boats. Each boat has four of the heads, which belong to Leavitt-Bliss torpedoes and weigh 350 pounds.

The technical term for the explosive in each of the torpedoes' business ends is trinitrotolol. The war heads are packed securely in solid wooden boxes and were shoved down the gangplank as if they were so many cases of lard.

The Maryland brought over the K boats' war heads and will take back those from the F-1, F-2 and F-3. Sixteen of the F war heads will go back, the extra four belonging to the F-4, whose dismantled hull is now rusting in the mud in a quiet portion of Pearl Harbor, where she was towed after being raised and examined.

In addition to the war heads, dry primers and detonators for the torpedoes were hoisted out and placed ashore, while the same equipment for the K boats was taken aboard after the K submarines' "stings" had been lifted out.

"Yes, there's enough explosive in those war heads to sink the Maryland, if it could all be exploded at once," remarked an officer as the cases explosives were being transferred. "As they are, though, you couldn't explode them. They'd burn just like firewood if they were ignited. Only a detonator would explode them.

LAST OF TROOPS MARCH WEARILY IN FROM FRONT

Technical Points and Trench Provisions Given Attention
During War Game

Late yesterday afternoon the last of the regiments that have been "at the front" during army maneuvers came trailing back to barracks. Most of them were tired after almost two weeks in the field, during most of which time they had hard work to do.

Technical points were given most attention during the maneuvers, and officers at headquarters have nothing to give out regarding the field work, further than that the maneuvers were a success and that the problems given were all successfully worked out. It is generally known that a great deal of attention was given to building and fighting in trenches, developments along that line in the European war having emphasized the importance of trench fighting.

PRACTISE WITH ONE POUNDERS AT KAMEHAMEHA

Practise firing with one pound guns has been ordered at Fort Kamehameha tomorrow by Colonel William C. Raf-erty of the Coast Artillery Corps. The practise will begin in the forenoon and will occupy a large part of the day. Moving and stationary targets will be marks for the gunners.

Colonel Rafferty plans to have practise with siege guns at Schofield Barracks the latter part of this week.
Most of the siege guns are six and seven inch pieces, and are primarily designed for battering down defenses.
No date has been set for testing out the big 14 inch gun at De Russy, but this will probably follow the siege gun practise and may be set for some day next week. Colonel Rafferty said today that the 14 inch gun would not be fired until the work with the small guns had been completed.

BIG COMMITTEE ARRANGING FOR VOLCANO TRIP

At least 150 men of the U. S. cruiser Maryland will make the trip from Hilo to Kilauea volcano and return if all goes well, Chaplain J. D. McNair of the Maryland said this morning.

The party will have a special train part way and will reach the Volcano House about 3:30 p. m., returning shortly after 8 o'clock at night. The train carries them to Glenwood station, and auto buses will convey them from the station to the Volcano House and to the crater.

On the time the Iroquois arrives here from Midway Island and Laysan Island depends the date of the Maryland's departure, and the two other naval vessels, the Iroquois and Nanshan, towing the F-1, F-2 and F-3 to San Francisco by way of Hilo. No further word has been received by the rive now before Wednesday or Thursday.

CHINESE GIRLS BUSY MAKING THINGS FOR CHRISTMAS BAZAAR including embroidery, weaving and larger pieces, will be displayed for

Fort Shafter Notes

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence) FORT SHAFTER, Oct. 25.—The visitors at the fort for the past week have been given a free admission to the aerodrome and each evening an excellent program has been presented by the management. All soldiers, sailors and marines in uniform were given free entrance.

A new general court martial has been ordered to meet at the Fort. Maj.
William R. Dashiell, 2d Infantry, is the president and 1st Lieut. Robert M.
Lyon, 2d Infantry, has been named as judge advocate. A stenographic reporter is authorized. The other members of the court are: Capt. Albert P. Clark, Medical Corps; Capt. John Randolph, 2d Infantry; 1st Lieut.
Claire R. Bennett, 2d Infantry; 1st Lieut. Raymond A. Wheeler, Corps of Engineers; 1st Lieut. H. C. K. Mullen-berg, 2d Infantry; 2d Lieut. Ralph C.
Holliday, 2d Infantry; 2d Lieut. Edw.
F. Wittsell, 2d Infantry.

The cantonment houses look very attractive now that the painters have put on a fresh coat of stain over the rough boards, and within a short time their work will be completed and the general appearance of the cantonment will be completely changed.

Both the officers' quarters and the barracks are being stained green, with touches of white around the windows and doors. The sidewalks are being repaved by the engineers and all brush cut and cleared away so that now the cantonment is as attractive as any on the island.

1st Lieut. Stephen H. Smith, Medical Corps, has reported for duty at the fort and is now on duty at the dispensary in the cantonment. Prior to his arrival at Shafter the doctor was assigned to the Department Hospital.
Until quarters are available at the Fort he will be domiciled in Honolulu at the University Club.

There will be an informal dance on the U. S. S. Maryland this evening at 9 o'clock, to which all officers and ladies of the fort have been invited. The dances on the Maryland are always most attractive and an unusually large number are expected to attend and enjoy the evening dancing.

Cpl. Joseph F. Furley, Company D, 2d Infantry, has been transferred as a private to the 4th Cavalry with station at Schofield Barracks, and ordered to report to the regimental commander for duty.

A board of officers has been ordered to meet at the fort to investigate and report upon the case of Pvt.
Frank Row, Quartermaster Corps, as to his adaptability for the military service.

Capt. Laurence S. Eckels, Leopold Mitchell and Charles M. Watson, Medical Corps, have been assigned to duty at the Department Hospital.

GUARD NUMBERS MORE THAN 3000; STILL GROWING

Maui Plantation Owners Show
Every Disposition to Aid; Fix Rifle Ranges

More than 3000 men are now listed on the rolls of the National Guard of Hawaii, and new organizations and enlistments are coming in rapidly.
Colonel Samuel I. Johnson, the adjutant-general, has just finished the work of forming and taking into the National Guard three companies in Maui, which brings the total of companies there to five. One of the companies has 135 men, which is nearly enough for two, the usual company being 80 men. This company will be split and a machine gun platoon formed from part of it.

Most of the men taken into the companies on Maui, Colonel Johnson says, are skilled workers, and are permanent residents of the islands. They will make the best kind of soldiers, he thinks.

Today's orders formally announce the completion of the organization of two companies in Honolulu, one of them being formed entirely by alumni of the Kamehameha school. The other is the 1st Separate Company of Engineers.

Maui men jumped into the military work with plenty of energy. Work was begun today on three rifle ranges which will be used in practice shooting. L. Weinsheimer, manager of the Pioneer Mill Company at Lahaina, promised to put a force of men to work preparing the range for the troop there, and Frank Baldwin has given the guardsmen the old custom house building at Kahului for an armory and drill shed. He has promised also to prepare a rifle range. Harry Bal-win has volunteered to construct a building for an armory at Paia.

Designations for the new companies and changes in designation of several other companies are given in today's orders from headquarters, together with a number of transfers and promotions of officers.

President Wilson announced that he will take no active part in politics while the diplomatic situation is so uncertain.

Alva C. Dinkey, former president of the Carnegie Steel Co., and a brother-in-law of Charles M. Schwab, was elected president of the Midvale Steel Co.

2d Infantry, has been transferred to the Telegraph and Telephone Platoon at Fort Shafter for duty.

Pvt. Richard R. Garber, Company I, 2d Infantry, has been discharged from the army by purchase.
